Bandit Leads Hot Trail in Oklahoma

Bobs Up Everywhere, But Still Free as Posse
Gets Many Clues

EL RENO, Okla.—Poses of peace officers and volunteers searched the countryside in vain Monday night for a bank bandit who kidnapped three El Reno youths late Monday after robbing the Union Bank of Union City, Oklahoma.

The bandit was last seen at Banner, a small town near here, in an automobile with the three boys. No trace had been found of him or the automobile since the kidnapping.

He abandoned his bullet-pierced automobile and his $1000 in loot when posses closed in on him in the brush not far from Yukon. He escaped, however, and made his way here.

He stopped Leslie Combs and two companions, commandeered their car and forced them to accompany him. He was last seen at Banner, riding in the front seat of the car between two of the boys. The third was in the rear seat.

The bandit took $1000 from the Union bank early Monday afternoon and escaped, but engaged in a running gun battle with Oklahoma county officers. They put bullets in his car, but apparently did not strike him.

He was armed with a rifle.

Outdistancing the officers, he abandoned his car, and attempted to purchase a horse from Art White, farmer living near Banner.

"I'll pay you $150 for a horse to get me to the river bottoms," White quoted the fugitive as saying.

"I refused, then ran into the house," White told possmen. "He was carrying a rifle, but didn't threaten to use it. He ran down into a ravine when I went into the house, and I lost sight of him."

The bandit then stopped Ray Haggy, 19, of Banner, and forced the youth out of his car. The motor would not start, however, and the fugitive stopped the car in which the three boys were riding.

And What Did Governor of Ohio Say?

It seems there was plenty of that old-fashioned "southern hospitality" for which Dixie is justly famed when Governor George White of Ohio, often mentioned as a possible Democratic presidential nominee, attended the Beaux Arts ball given in connection with the governor's convention at Richmond, Va. Here is Governor White, in a happy mood, between two charming Richmond matrons—Mrs. Wichter Dudley, Jr., left, and Mrs. John T. Lewis, right—who seem to be bent on making his visit a pleasant one.

Five Hurt As Car Wrecks on Bridge

Famous Beauty Opens Campaign For Saving Souls

NEW YORK.—(AP)—Mrs. Edith Mae Pennington, who first came into the public eye when she won a national beauty contest in 1921 in New York to save some souls.

Mrs. Pennington, who described herself as a "simple soul and a wanderer," who doesn't "imitate other women—evangelists but just goes around 'sowing souls,'" opened a two weeks revival in a West 33rd street tabernacle.

After her first sermon in which she gave her version of the story of David and Goliath, Mrs. Pennington told reporters of the events that led her from her home in Pine Bluff, Ark., to a beauty contest in St. Louis, thence to Hollywood and finally to evangelism.

"The first thing you must understand," she said, "is that I never wore a bathing suit in the beauty contest. I was in street attire all the time a appeared before the judges, and my title wasn't 'Miss America' it was 'the most beautiful girl in the country.'"

It was while playing in the movies, she said, that "God put his hand on my shoulder."

"Then, a few years after," she said "I happened to go into a little Pentecostal church in Oklahoma City, and it was there that I adopted the evangelism."

Her husband and daughter live in Pine Bluff, Ark. Her maiden name, which she won the beauty contest, test was Edith Mae Patterson.

Rhode Island to Support Al Smith

10 Votes of Smallest State to Be Cast for 1928
Standard Bearer

PROVIDENCE, R. I.—(AP)—Little Rhode Island's Democrats Monday stood by Alfred E. Smith. Delegates to the party's state convention refused, 172 to 23, to support Franklin D. Roosevelt and by a voice vote instructed its delegates to cast the 10 votes of the smallest state in the union for Smith as the party's presidential nominee. Rhode Island was carried by Smith in the national election four years ago.

A resolution instructing the delegation to work and vote for the insertion of a plank in the national platform calling either for repeal of the Sigmund amendment or for an adequate plan for submitting the question of repeal to the voters of the states also was adopted.

AUSTIN, Texas.—(AP)—Bloodhounds as a means of tracking down criminals are coming back into style in Texas.

16 Arrested in Oil Theft Case

Texas Officers Declare 2
Suspects Confess, Implicating Others

LONGVIEW, Texas.—Sixteen of 18 persons named in warrants charging 213 separate cases of felony in connection with alleged wholesale oil stealing in the vicinity of Gladewater had been arrested by Texas Rangers and National Guard officers Monday.

Warrants were issued Monday afternoon for the arrest of George F. Lovick, Texas & Pacific railroad freight agent in Longview, charging theft, and H. E. Fine, gauger for the Railroad Commission, was arrested in Kilgore late Monday afternoon. Members of the Longview railroad office said Lovick was out of town.

Col. Louis Davidson said he had evidence that the plot to steal 1,000,000 barrels of oil was made in a Longview hotel.

E. M. Daniels formerly was gauger for the Railroad Commission at Henderson, and Torbet, T. & P. freight agent at Gladewater. A check-up at the office of Torbet in Gladewater revealed that his records had been stolen. The T. & P. railroad already has employed a new agent at Gladewater.

Colonel Davidson announced that in his report to the Gregg county grand jury he will tell what wells ran oil, dates and hour of each run, and its rate, the price paid and destination.

The million barrels of oil which is alleged to have been stolen left the field in various ways, including by-passes "bleeder" system, short lines to loading racks, straight runs into pipelines and run through tank into lines. Daniels and Torbet are said to have confessed and to have named a third man, whose identity was not revealed.

Three men, two of whom entered the hotel lobby at 2:30 a. m. Sunday, obtained a total of $350 from the hotel clerk.

Lindbergh Absent From Home; His Destination Secret

Believe Underworld Out for New Move to Get Kidnaped Child

MISSION IS SECRET
Attempt to Collect an Additional $50,000 Ransom Reported

HOPEWELL, N. J.—(AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh was believed absent from his hilltop home Tuesday coincident with work from a high official that a new underworld unit had thrown its strength into the search for his stolen son.

The colonel's personal efforts, however, were considered entirely separate and distinct from the new aid, which was described as the outgrowth of the offers made by Al Capone, from his Chicago jail cell.

After original offers went unaccepted, the official related, agents of Capone suggested that all of his followers engage in a concerted move to recover the child. This has been done, he said, on the single condition that in event of success acknowledgement would be made that it had been achieved through Capone channels.

Mission Secret
Meanwhile, Colonel Lindbergh was believed to have left here and was represented to have kept the progress of his mission a secret even from Colonel H. Norman Schwarzkopf, police head who has been in charge of the official investigation since the baby was kidnapped March 1.

In connection with this development, there was a fresh version of the case coming from a person close to the family. This report said three men stole the child and rushed with him to the Delaware river where they placed him aboard a boat.

They took him to Martha's Vineyard in Massachusetts and two of the trio came ashore to attempt to collect $50,000 ransom. The third man stayed aboard the boat with the child.

The two negotiators effected a contact through Dr. John F. Condon, the "Jafsie" who inserted numerous mysteriously worded advertisements in a Bronx newspaper. They were paid $50,000 by Colonel Lindbergh through Dr. Condon.

The man on the boat failed to hear from them and became suspicious. He then made an independent effort to contact Colonel Lindbergh with a demand for money for himself.

The story was that Colonel Lindbergh now was conducting his negotiations with this man and had agreed to the additional payment on condition that the man would establish satisfactorily that the child was in his possession.

Lancaster Held In Friend's Death

Former British Flier Admits Writing Clarke
"Suicide" Note

MIAMI, Fla.—(AP)—Captain W. N. Lancaster, former British flier, was in jail Monday night, charged with the first degree murder of Haden Clarke, 26, author and fiance of Lancaster's flying partner, Mrs. Jessie M. Keith-Miller.

States Attorney N. Vernon Hawthorne placed the charge against Lancaster after the latter's alleged confession that he wrote and signed two suicide notes purportedly left by Clarke to Lancaster and to Mrs. Keith-Miller, Australian aviatrix.

Hawthorne quoted the flier as admitting that he wrote and signed the notes.

"Lancaster told me he wrote the two notes—one of them to himself, advising him never again to leave 'Chubbie' (Mrs. Keith-Miller), and the other to Mrs. Keith-Miller, telling her that he couldn't go through with their plans for marriage and praising Lancaster."

After he wrote the notes on Clarke's typewriter, Hawthorne quoted Lancaster as saying he "attempted to revive Clarke, unconscious from a bullet wound in his head."

Worthington New Harrison Mayor

Assumes Office Despite Gaston's Threat Not to Surrender Post

HARRISON.—The expected fight over the mayoralty of Harrison failed to materialize Monday night.

Rex Worthington, Republican, assumed the office, organized the City Council and appointed standing committees.

Robert B. Gaston, Democrat, mayor the past four years and who was a candidate for re-election, but whose apparent victory at the polls was nullified by a recount, did not attend the meeting. He had announced he would not give up the office.

When the secretary of state issued the commission for the mayor of Harrison, he erroneously wrote in the name of Mr. Gaston. It was the latter's contention that since he had received a commission, he was the duly elected mayor.

The recount, made at the request of Mr. Worthington, gave Worthington a majority of 24 votes. The original count gave Gaston a majority of 19.

The council appointed Rufus Adair and Bruce Wilcox as city policemen to succeed S. E. Tow, and named Vance Hudson street commissioner to succeed Oscar Rogers. Dr. D. E. Evans was retained as city health officer. W. B. Fortner was named city attorney to succeed Charles Smith.

Texarkana Constable's Activity to Be Probed

TEXARKANA.—When the Bowie county Grand Jury meets at Boston May 9, an investigation will be made concerning the stopping and delaying of tourists traveling by automobile through Texarkana, by members of Constable Jim Akin's department on the Texas side, it was announced Monday by Sheriff Henry Brooks. The sheriff was in receipt of a letter from Edward F. Holloway of Beloit, Wis., in which it was said that Texarkana is receiving adverse publicity because of the treatment tourists are receiving.

The constables have denied that they showed Holloway or any other tourist they have stopped any discourtesy. The officers also declare they have recovered 19 stolen machines by using their method of stopping cars from other states.

Rail Offices May Stay at Texarkana

Texas Attorney General
Appears Before I. C. C.
Examiner at Hearing

TEXARKANA.—Texarkana was given renewed hope for retaining offices of the Kansas City Southern railroad here Monday afternoon by Assistant Attorney General Elbert Hooper, representing Texas, when he warned the Interstate Commerce Commission that application of the K. C. S. to acquire the Texarkana and Fort Smith railroad and to move the general office to Shreveport must be "determined as a question of law and not of fact."

Hooper promised that a decision from the United States Supreme Court, would be sought if necessary to uphold the validity of Texas laws requiring railroads operating in Texas to maintain general offices in that state.

The hearing was held in a local hotel and was completed at noon before Examiner Thomas F. Sullivan of the Interstate Commerce Commission. Hooper represented the state and the Railroad Commission. J. A. R. Mosley Jr., the Texarkana Chamber of Commerce and District Attorney Elmer Lincoln represented the city of Texarkana and Bowie county. F. H. Moore and W. E. Davis, both of Kansas City, represented the railroad. They said that the removal of the offices from Texarkana to Shreveport would effect a saving of $82,000 a year.

Precautions Being Taken for Removal To Leavenworth

Famous Gang Chief Must Pay 11 Years in Pen
Over Income Tax

CLAIMS HE IS "GOAT"

Storms About Cell Protesting Action of Supreme Court Monday

CHICAGO.—(AP)—Al Capone will start his long deferred trip to prison Tuesday night.

Arrangements have been completed for his removal to Leavenworth and elaborate precautions are being taken for the delivery of the gang chief inside of the prison walls.

City police, deputy marshals and other federal agents will make up the force that will transfer Capone and fifteen other prisoners from the county jail to a special railroad car.

Capone will be handcuffed to one of the other prisoners.

Write It Issued
CHICAGO.—(AP)—The last obstacle to prevent the removal of Al Capone to the Federal penitentiary was removed Tuesday when the United States Circuit Court of Appeals granted a writ of supersedeas which nullified the government's charge that he appealed his conviction for evading income taxes.

A multimillion ordering Capone to prison was made out and it was expected that he would be started for Leavenworth within 24 hours.

Plans for the trip are being kept secret by the prison authorities it was said.

Capone who is in the Cook county jail was apparently resigned to the futility of further effort to escape sentence and quietly began packing his belongings.

Upon hearing of the supreme court's action Monday, denying him a review of his case the gangster stormed about his cell in protest.

Stanley Lee Again Given Prison Term

Sentenced to 2 Years at Hot Springs for Misusing Bank's Funds

HOT SPRINGS.—Pleading guilty to one of several indictments charging alleged misuse of funds while cashier of the Commo Bank and Trust Company in 1927, Stanley Lee was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary and left Monday afternoon in charge of officers for Little Rock.

Eight indictments had been returned against Lee. A short time ago Lee unexpectedly appeared in court, pleaded guilty, was sentenced to serve three years and immediately was granted an indefinite furlough by Governor Parnell, who explained that it was his understanding that Lee would not have to stand trial following serving a sentence in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta for misuse of funds of the Arkansas National bank, the institution to which Lee went when it took over the affairs of the Commo Bank and Trust Company.

Only a few persons knew that Lee would plead guilty Monday afternoon. It was reported generally, following the granting of an indefinite furlough, that he had gone to New York to accept a lucrative position. Prosecuting Attorney Houston Emory had set May 9 as the date to try Lee on the remaining indictments, and a bitter court battle had been anticipated. Lee made that unnecessary by his action Monday.

Senate Loses Fight to Bar George Smith

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—The senate lost its fight with the president Monday when the supreme court declared Chairman George Smith of the federal power commission was entitled to hold that office.

The court, in an opinion by Justice Brandeis, held the senate was without authority to recall the nomination of Smith after it had advised the president of his confirmation and Smith had taken the oath of office. When the president refused to return the nomination the senate went through the formality of reconsidering and rejecting the nomination.

Turning the Light on the "Bulls"

UNDER the impetus given by fiery Congressman LaGuardia, the Senate's inquiry into the stock market seems to have become more an investigation of the bulls than of the bears.

Since the bull market is now two and one-half years in the background, and looking more remote every day, this may seem a waste of time and money. Actually, though, it isn't a bad idea. It might be about as good for us to find out how we were got to the top of the toboggan slide as how we were sliding down it.

After all, this lamentable bear market, with its accompaniment of unemployment, hunger, red ink and general business stagnation, is only the reverse side of the bull market. What goes up, in this world, must come down, and if it goes up beyond all reason it is apt to come down in just the same way. We bargained for all of this in those hectic days of 1928 and 1929 when it was popular to talk about a new economic era, and the more light we can get on the unseen forces that had us by the nose before the crash the better off we shall be.

So far, we haven't shown much interest in getting that kind of knowledge. We have tried to tell ourselves that we were a virtuous and well-meaning people foully victimized by schemers who have taken us for a ride. We have spent two years looking for a scapegoat, and the present effort to lay the blame for the depression on short sellers is just the latest development in our hunt.

Sooner or later, though, we'll have to admit that nobody betrayed us, except with our own consent. We lost all sense of values during the boom, we pretended that it was no longer a sin to gamble (provides one wins) and we surrendered to one of the most dismal orgies of dollar-worshipping the country has ever seen.

Now we're paying for it. To find out what brokers are selling short in the markets of 1932 might be interesting, but it can't be especially important. It might be a whole lot better to follow Mr. LaGuardia's tip and put the spotlight on what was happening when all prices were going up.

The Way Fame Works

EDWIN MARKHAM, the poet, said recently that he wished people would forget for a while at least, that he ever wrote a poem called "The Man With the Hoe."

This poem, which made him world-famous when he wrote it some three decades ago, and which is as much alive today as it ever was, follows him, he wrote it some three decades ago, and which is as much alive today as it ever was, follows him, he complained, like an avenging ghost. He has written many other poems and he thinks that some of them have a lot more artistic worth; but no matter what he does or where he goes, he is still known as the author of "The Man With the Hoe," and he's getting a bit tired of it.

All of which, of course, is just another interesting little sidelight on the way fame works.

People like to couple a man's name with one outstanding feat. Once they do this the man's fame is secure, and he can bank in the knowledge that he won't be forgotten; but he may eventually find, as Mr. Markham has found, that he will never be given credit for doing anything else. From that moment on he is a one-achievement man.

Consider, for instance, Richmond P. Hobson, whose long public career faded into nothing, in the public mind, beside the fact that he was the Merrimac at the mouth of Santiago harbor during the Spanish war.

Then there are James Monroe, about whom the ordinary citizen knows absolutely nothing except that while president he formulated the Monroe doctrine; and Aaron Burr, remembered solely because he killed Alexander Hamilton in a duel; and Henry Clay, about whom we recall nothing except that he had a pleasing knack of devising compromises; and Benjamin Franklin, whom many remember only in connection with a certain kite-flying episode.

And so it goes. If you are ambitious, beware of a tag; it may make your fame endure, but it will also make it a bit lop-sided.

Those Good Old Days

A NEW YORK hygienist the other day attained the front page by remarking that the good old days must have been pretty unhealthful. The old oaken bucket, the old swimming hole, the pies that mother used to bake—all of these, he said, may have highly enjoyable, but they were "tawdry and unsanitary" and if modern life has got us away from them it is a good thing.

All of this may be quite true; but the gentleman really ought to pipe down before he raises a great prejudice against public hygiene. Most people, quite perversely, would rather be happy than hygienic; and if hygienists insist on pointing out the sanitary shortcomings in our most cherished old-time memories they are apt to persuade some of us that there are things considerably more important than hygiene.

A coster pushing a hand-cart of shrimps, confronted by a parliamentarian in his limousine, was roughly ordered to get out of the way.
"Get out of the road yourself," returned the coster.
"You don't know who I am, evidently, I have M. P. at the end of my name."
"So has every blinkin' shrimp in this 'ere barrer of mine," was the retort.—Boston Transcript.

Life is a game of seesaw: We have our ups and downs. A happy combination Of pink and blues and browns: Bomber hues and rainbow tints. Frowns and tears and laughter. One day a storm of anguish keen, The next a day of rapture.

Life is a gypsy journey From sunrise to sunset: We pitch our tents on green-clad hills, But long for greener yet. One day we dance in madcap joy, The next we bow in sorrow: We have our now and yesterday, But never to tomorrow.—Selected.

'Vivienne Ware' Is New Film Feature

Famous Radio Murder Trial Coming to Saenger Wednesday

To radio audiences throughout the country "The Trial of Vivienne Ware" is quite familiar. Most of us remember the days not so long ago when we were asked to sit in as the jury at the trial of the beautiful society girl accused of murdering her fiancé. We remember hearing the evidence pile up against this girl who everybody believed was guilty. We remember the climax—the final thrill—when the truth was revealed.

"The Trial of Vivienne Ware" is to be seen! We shall actually be there with the trial going on. We shall actually see the cross-fire between prosecutor and defense attorney. We will be there with Vivienne Ware, Dolores Divine, the judge and the lawyers.

For "The Trial of Vivienne Ware," a talking picture made by Fox Films, comes to the Saenger Theatre on Wednesday.

In the film, the story is followed closely and is said to maintain all the color, tenseness and trip-hammer speed of the original radio trial. Joan Bennett is to be seen in the role of Vivienne Ware, the girl who is fighting for her life. The part of Dolores Divine, the night club entertainer, is in the hands of Lillian Bond, one of the newer beauties of the screen. Donald Cook is the defense attorney and Allan Dinehart is the prosecutor. Others in the production, which was directed by William K. Howard, are Richard "Skeets" Gallagher, Zasu Pitts, Herbert Mundin, Howard Phillips, Noel Madison, J. Maurice Sullivan, William Fawley, Ruth Selwyn, Maude Eburne, Eddie Dillon, Jameson Thomas, Christian Rub and Bert Hanlon.

DO YOU INHALE?

Why is this vital question so much avoided by other cigarettes?

EVER since Lucky Strike created that special process for purifying fine tobacco and told the full facts about cigarette smoking—the industry has been in an uproar. For Lucky Strike has dared to mention things that were considered "taboo" in the cigarette trade.

You may have noticed a striking avoidance generally of the word "inhale" in cigarette advertising. Why? Goodness only knows! For everybody inhales—knowingly or unknowingly! Every smoker breathes in some part of the smoke he or she draws out of a cigarette.

That's why it's all-important to be certain that your cigarette smoke is pure and clean—to be sure you don't inhale certain impurities.

Do you inhale? Lucky Strike has dared to raise this vital question—for it gives you the protection you want... because certain impurities concealed in even the finest, mildest tobacco leaves are removed by Luckies' famous purifying process. Luckies created that process. Only Luckies have it!
